

EDGERTON 'WET' BY A LARGE MAJORITY: BIG VOTE WAS CAST

License Carries in Tobacco City by 103 Majority—395 Votes Polled, Biggest in Years—Other Returns.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Edgerton, April 5.—The municipal election held here yesterday goes on record as one of the hardest fought battles in years and a big vote was cast—395—being the biggest vote polled in the city of Edgerton for five years. While the contest centered principally on the license question, the city nevertheless went by 103 majority. The ticket as elected is as follows:

Justices of the Peace—John A. Smith, Alderman, 1st Ward—O. J. Jensen, Alderman, 2nd Ward—H. L. Cleary, Alderman, 3rd Ward—August Dahlman.
Supervisors, 1st Ward—L. C. Hopkins.
Supervisor, 2nd Ward—L. E. Gottlieb.
Supervisor, 3rd Ward—Robert J. Bruhn.

Town of Fulton Election.
The election in the town of Fulton also was a hot contest with two tickets in the field. John Thompson headed the republican ticket for chairman, and received 17 votes. John Sherman was re-elected chairman on the democratic ticket, receiving 97 votes. 100 votes were cast and the entire democratic ticket is elected as follows:

Board of Supervisors—John Sherman, chairman; Henry Arthur, John Kenly.
Town Clerk—O. P. Murwin.
Treasurer—William Wille.
Assessor—F. B. Sherman.
Justices of the Peace—August Hansen, full term; Julius Hultitz, full term.
Constables—Phil Sherman, Joseph McMan, Andrew Elfrson.

Town of Albion.
The election in the town of Albion resulted in the reelection of D. T. Devine for chairman. Lars O. Lieg, Jr., and Martin Mason, being members of the board, 100 votes were cast. J. J. Noble was elected clerk, H. N. Simonson, assessor; H. E. Lilly, treasurer and E. S. McGillicuddy, justice of the peace.

Personal.
George Sheffer of La Crosse, is here on a visit to his brother-in-law, Clarence Bowen and family.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swenson left this morning for Anthon, Iowa, being called there by the death of the lady's brother.

MILTON JUNCTION DRY BY EIGHTEEN

Heavy Vote Was Polled and Township System Remains—J. A. Paul Returns to County Board.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Milton Junction, April 5.—The election here drew the largest crowd ever out. The school question served as the incentive and the proposition to vote out the township system was defeated 214 to 176. The town went dry by 18 votes. The republican ticket was elected as follows: Chairman, J. A. Paul; assessor, W. E. Yule; and W. P. Macquart, assessor; J. McVort, clerk; E. M. Holsten; treasurer, M. A. Richardson.
The only opposition was to chairman and W. P. McBrido received 139 votes to Paul's 192. J. A. Paul is the present chairman, an office which he has held for the past ten years.

Local News.
Miss Winifred Goodrich is spending her vacation from Beloit college at home. She entertained over Sunday the Misses Sarah and Lohi Brodtkorb, of Edgely, N. D. Miss Goodrich entertained in their honor last Monday night at progressive South-Set.

BRODHEAD "DRY" BY NINETY VOTES

Election Passed Off Quietly at Brodhead and Place Went Anti-Saloon by Large Margin.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Brodhead, April 5.—Brodhead went dry by a majority of 90 votes. W. H. Fleck was elected justice of the peace, having no opposition. In the First ward J. L. Roderick was re-elected alderman and L. J. Stahl was re-elected supervisor. Neither had any opposition.

In the Second ward Archie Swann, Independent, was elected alderman over M. L. Karmey, anti-saloon. J. Barton Pierce, anti-saloon, was elected supervisor in the same ward over Lewis W. Terry, Independent. Whole number of votes cast for judge was 295.

In the township of Decorah the entire town ticket was elected: Supervisors, A. P. Perez, chairman, C. W. Fleck and George Colton; town clerk, Met Karmey; assessor, C. J. Colgren; treasurer, W. E. Fleck; justice of the peace, A. E. Fleck; constables, Wm. Mavens and Russell Day.

Personal.
Born to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. C. Peterson on Tuesday April 4th, a baby daughter.
Mrs. M. Reed is quite sick.
Al. Baxter left on Tuesday for Mount, South Dakota, where he expects to spend some time.

Remains of Illinois Man Found in Ashes—Believed Thieves Fired Building to Cover Crime.
Harrisburg, Ill., April 5.—The charred remains of John Mitchell, the well-to-do bachelor at Carrier Mills, was found in the ashes of his home. Marks on his body lead the authorities to believe that he was murdered and robbed and the building set on fire to cover up the crime.

Michigan Master Plumbers Meet.

Muskegon, Mich., April 5.—The Michigan State Association of Master Plumbers met here today in its nineteenth annual convention. The sessions are being held in Knights of Columbus hall and the program for today and tomorrow includes many good talks on business and some attractive social functions. Of the latter the chief is the big banquet that will be served this evening in the New Occidental hotel.

GREET'S WRONG WOMAN

CLEVELAND MAN MAKES A MOST DEPLORABLE MISTAKE.

She Is Not His Chum's Wife, but Wishes Her Husband Were There to Thrash "Low Wretch."

The Cleveland man's old college chum out in Chicago had written him that his wife and little boy were going through here on their way east to visit her mother. They would be in Cleveland over night, the Chicago chum wrote, and he wanted to know if his old friend here would mind meeting the little wife and kid and taking them out to his house to meet his own wife, and let 'em stay there over night.

Naturally, the Cleveland man wrote back that he would be delighted. He had never met his chum's wife as the marriage had taken place since the two men separated, but the description in her husband's letter seemed sufficient to identify her and her offspring.

"The youngster's a chubby little cuss with sandy hair about like mine," the letter said, "and as for my wife, well, all you have to do is just pick out the flattest little woman of 25 or so that gets out the train, and if she has with her the sandy-haired youngster before mentioned, and is rather slender, with dark hair, it's a safe bet she's the one."

So the Cleveland man went down to the station and waited for the Chicago train to pull in. Among the first passengers to alight was a charmingly wholesome looking little woman of perhaps 25 years, slender, well-groomed, and good to look upon. She carried a small alligator satchel in one hand, and with the other clutched a small sandy-haired boy.

"This certainly is an easy one," thought the Clevelander who was to meet the woman and child. "No chance to go wrong here."

As the woman and youngster squeezed through the exit gate, he took off his hat and walked over to meet them. He knew his old friend wouldn't have married a girl without a sense of humor, so he began jauntily: "Well, my orders were to meet the most charming looking woman that got off the train, so—"

He was cut short by the sharp, indignant look the woman gave him. "Why, my dear girl," he resumed, smiling, "can't you guess who I am?"

"You're a low wretch-trying to take advantage of a woman traveling without an escort," she put in.

"But, madam, Frank wrote me that—"

"I don't know any Frank. I only wish that my husband were here, though, to give you the thrashing you deserve. If you speak another word to me I shall call a policeman."

The Clevelander saw several people looking at him and thought the woman might make a scene if he tried to explain. So he lifted his hat once more and turned away in considerable confusion. On his way out he heard several people talking under their breath, using such phrases as "fresh masher," "no respect for a nice woman," and the like.

When he got home he found waiting for him a telegram from his Chicago friend, saying that his wife had found it necessary to go straight through to the east without stopping at Cleveland, after all—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Dreaming.
I care not how worldly you may be; there are times when all distinctions seem like dust; and when at the graves of the great, you dream of a coming country where your proudest hopes shall be dimmed forever. Married or unmarried, young or old, poet or worker, you are still a dreamer, and will one time feel and know that your life is but a dream.—Leo Marvel.

There will be an abundance of recipes published on the Woman's Page during April so that a great variety of menus may be made up. If you enter the Gazette Menu contest, clip out the recipes each night and paste them in the scrap book which is to be furnished free for that purpose. Read about the contest offer and rules on the woman's page of this issue.

THE THEATER

Schumann-Meink's Program Gives Promise of Rare Treat.

Mrs. Clara Bowen Shepard through whose efforts the marvelous Schumann-Meink will appear at the Myers Theatre Tuesday evening, April 25, has just received the diva's program. Mrs. Shepard feels that it is a wonderful program containing four big acts from well known operas as well as a great religious solo from "Eljah" and the thrilling song of Schubert "The Erl-King," and wishes it published early so that Janesville music lovers may more fully realize the rare treat in store for them. Mrs. Shepard will gladly receive requests for anecdotes from any of Mrs. Schumann-Meink's admirers in Janesville. Already a special request has been made for Marie Jacobs Bonde "Lullaby." Schumann-Meink has greatly honored this former Janesville woman by placing her "Lullaby" on many of her programmes. The following programme will be given here:

1. Aria from the Opera "Sapho".....Gannon
2. A Aria from the opera "La Propete".....Mexican
3. Aria from the opera "Samson and Delilah".....Sundae
4. Shepherd Song from the opera "Tannhauser".....Wagner
5. O Rest in the Lord (Eljah).....Mendelssohn

An Open Letter

April 5, 1911.

Dear Madam:—

You want a piano in your home, don't you? Yes—you say. Then when do you expect to have a better opportunity to put one in than now, by joining the Skavlem Piano Club? When do you expect the conditions for buying a piano will be easier than they have been made through this gigantic Club? When do you expect that any more advantages in buying a piano will be on your side than there are in this big deal? Just let us look at what these advantages really are.

1st. By joining with 100 other persons in this big deal, you buy a $375 piano for $277.50, thereby saving at the very outset $97.50.

2nd. Instead of having to pay $25 cash down and $10 a month, the usual terms for a piano of this grade, you only have to pay $5.00 when the piano is delivered then $1.25 a week.

3rd. You don't have to pay any interest in addition to the price, which will make your piano cost you, no one knows what. In the Club, the piano costs you $277.50. There are no extras hanging over you.

4th. If you don't like the piano after you have had it in your home and given it a thorough trial for 30 days we will come and get it without any expense to you, and give you your money back—and no questions asked.

5th. If, on the other hand, you do like it and decide to keep it, we will give you a 10 years' guarantee over our own signature—the guarantee to be as strong as we know how to write one. (If you can write a stronger—we will sign it.)

6th. After a year's use, if then, even, you are not wholly satisfied, we will give you the privilege of coming to our store and selecting another piano in its stead and we will exchange with you, and apply every dollar you have paid on this one towards paying for the new one you select.

7th. During the year, we will tune the piano twice, without charge.

8th. If you want to pay up your dues in less time than 218 weeks (the time it takes to pay at $1.25 a week) you get a rebate of 15 cents in cash for each and every week you shorten the time.

And last but not least, suppose you were to die before all your payments had been made. Would your family have to pay the remainder? No.

Immediately upon receipt of the news of your death a receipt in full for the remaining unpaid payments would be mailed to your family.

And furthermore—these are not merely verbal promises. They are a matter of contract—they are put in "black and white" as between ourselves and each and every individual club member.

Now again we ask, "Do you ever expect that any more advantages in buying a piano will be on your side of the bargain than there are to be had in this?"

We hardly think so. In fact, we very much doubt if you will ever again have another opportunity where so many and all of the conditions of purchase are so favorable to the purchaser.

As 98 members have already joined, don't put off too long. Come in and see for yourself anyway. A letter like this at its best is cold—come to the store and investigate the whole proposition for yourself—it will pay you.

Yours very truly,

THE NEW REGIME.

By their votes yesterday an overwhelming majority of the citizens expressed their preference for John C. Nichols for mayor for the next two years. Republicans and democrats united in electing this gentleman to the highest executive position the city has to offer. Mr. Nichols is a young man who has made his campaign on the platform of progress. His statements in the pre-election campaign showed most clearly that he was allied with no "interests" that might hamper his efficiency as mayor. His campaign was a good, clean one conducted on business lines and the voters responded to his appeal for their support by giving him an unusual endorsement. Mr. Nichols will make Janesville a good mayor. He is honest, faithful and conscientious. He has made his own business a success through his own individual efforts and his record in everything he has undertaken bears out the statement that he stands for progress for a bigger and better Janesville. A young man, his campaign appealed to that class of citizens. Himself a working man, he was supported by the wage-earners. His attitude on public matters, on the question of law and order, has never been questioned. He will not antagonize the different departments of the city by introducing revolutionary ideas, but will work in union with council, chief of police and other city officials he has to come in official contact with. His business is in such shape now, after two years of hard individual work, that he can devote the time, to the duties of the office, that is necessary to bring about the best results. Mr. Nichols was elected by the people and he will honestly and faithfully guard their interests. Those that know him personally place great confidence in his successful administration of city affairs and wish him God-speed in his undertaking as mayor of Janesville.

JAMES FIFIELD.

While James Fifield was defeated at the polls yesterday, both he and his friends must retain the satisfaction of knowing that one of the cleanest and most honorable campaigns possible was carried on. Mr. Fifield is too big a man, morally and mentally, not to understand that local conditions played an important part in the election. That his defeat was not due to his own personality but to existing circumstances. The troublesome times of the past two years, the different departments at odds with each other and working at cross purposes, made the people desirous of a complete change that would throw the responsibility of the city government upon new shoulders. Mr. Fifield went down in defeat supported honestly and faithfully by his friends. His appeal to the voters to exercise their right of franchise and give their endorsement to the successful candidate showed his real spirit in the whole campaign, simply seeking the city's best interests even at the sacrifice of his own personal feelings.

New York is to have a demonstration against the unsafe factory buildings that promises to be a revelation to the civilized world. It is time that in this rush for money the lives of the workers are safeguarded more and more.

THAT STAR CHAMBER.

That the question of the "Star Chamber sessions" of the council played an important part in the election of two aldermen is most certain. Both Candidate Scott in the second, and Candidate Weber in the first had plainly expressed their views on this subject as favoring their continuance. Both were defeated. There are many in the city who represent special interests that might perhaps prefer to talk to the aldermen behind closed doors than in open council meetings where the taxpayers could hear all that is said, but their day is past. The decisive stand taken by Aldermen Dublin, Sheridan, Evans and Aldermen-elect Spohn, Shurtleff and Connell and the attitude of Alderman-elect Schmidley assure the citizens and taxpayers that their wishes in the matter will be respected.

One surprising feature of the election yesterday was the fact that the vote for the judges was almost forgotten in the rush to vote for the choice of the vote for mayor. It would have been an opportune time for a party candidate to have slipped in and won out.

Even Milwaukee turned round and defeated its socialist master by a record vote yesterday when it came to the selection of judges. The worm will turn at last.

Even if Dix thought he was going to win over the insurgents by sending a few of his cabinet up Salt Creek Madero, the rebel leader now insists that Dix take the same trip himself.

Champ Clark sounded the keynote of the democratic wall for complete control of the government in his inaugural address to congress yesterday.

No one need say that Lorimer's election to the United States senate by the Illinois legislature did not have its effect upon the result in Chicago.

Janesville celebrated last night. Bonfires on the streets gave the city the appearance of being a college town jubilant over a football victory.

The question of wet or dry was threshed out in many localities and the wets appear to have the best of the question thus far.

Janesville initiators are to take their hand in trying to make Madison a dry spot on the map of the state by legislative enactment.

Taft's message today is less than a thousand words. Think of that. He means to get down to the pith of the matter instantly.

Congress is again in session so the country is safe for a few weeks as the spell-binders and eloquent lecturers will be busy.

It was a landslide Tuesday that buried almost every republican that ran for an office many feet under the sod. Carter Harrison came back in Chicago and defeated the "interests" by a good, clean majority.

I went to roost without a dime, and there I lay for hours and dreamed that I was John D. ONLY A DREAM. Morpheus, my coffers strewned, I watched my spendy millions flee to dump the lullion in the banks, and about me forever walked with me, protecting me from wicked cranks. The world sent forth its host of hores and mendicants in perked squad filled all the landscape out of doors, and tried to touch me for my wad. And all the jealous plutocrats were there to get my coin away; they poked me sorely in the shins and kept me humping, night and day. In sleepless state I seemed to sup, and sleepless tossed upon my bed; and hitherfollers called me up and twisted everything I said. I had no pleasant hours to while away at games I loved before; I mounted guard upon my pile, and counted sacks of gold and swore, I had not friends; I had men's hate, and I suspected other men of low down schemes to swipe a crate of my long green and then again, I had no comrades, unless, maybe, and all my kindred eyed me ill, and chanced to bring me evenhanded that they might figure in my will. And O, the joy when from this dream to cheerful poverty I woke! I uttered one long ghastly scream and cried: "Thank heaven, I am broke!"

Heart to Heart Talks.

THE PARTNERSHIP.

A New York newspaper says several divorce suits recently were brought for peculiar reasons. The complainants were wives who gave as a chief reason that their husbands were too good, permitting them to have their own way at all times and seeking to gratify and not deny their whims and caprices. Whereat the newspaper asks:

Is the kind husband a failure? Which depends. It may be noted in the first place that these New York women are of the class of the leisure rich. Ordinarily wives do not bring divorce suits alleging the exceeding kindness of their husbands.

Nevertheless—A husband may be so kind as to betray a weakness of character. Sometimes he may best display real kindness by opposing the wishes of his wife.

A husband should always stand fast for what he believes to be right. He should have a mind of his own and use it.

He need not be arrogant. Nor tyrannical. He should highly regard the wishes of his wife, even though she sometimes may seem to him to be capricious or whimsical. But kindness does not require subservency or surrender of convictions.

To say nothing of the unmanliness of it, a surrender of such sort may lead a wife to think very much less of her husband.

Women always admire strength in men. If this man has strength of character a victory over him may seem worth while. She who wins a weak husband to her way of thinking accounts the victory as worthy of no special celebration.

A husband should always be kind to his wife—always! He should neither be a mere echo of her wishes nor a mere plaything of her desires.

Marriage is partnership. Full partnership, mind you. Each partner is entitled to his or her convictions, and each must retain his or her individuality, moderated always by regard, respect and courtesy toward the other partner.

He who would so far forget himself as to insist that his wife should merge her individuality into his, who would demand that in matters of opinion he should dominate the personality of her husband—these be tyrants and not partners.

Norwegian Leper Asylums.
There are in Norway no fewer than 20 leper asylums, but each contains only ten to 15 beds. They are situated in country places, and the style of living followed in them is similar to that of an ordinary family in moderate circumstances.

Norfolk, Va., April 5.—With over 500 horses already quartered at the track and others en route the spring meeting of the Jamestown Jockey Club opened today marking the beginning of the racing season in the North. The meeting will run for fifteen days. The officials in charge are A. B. Dade, starter; Ed. C. Cole and P. Gerhardt, judges; J. H. Hord, Smith, handicapper, and Herman Conkling, patrol judge.

The meeting promises to be a highly successful one despite the fact that the Virginia law has made open betting out of the question. The added money to the stakes and purses this year is much greater than ever before. Some of the events are as follows: Monticello purse, value $1,000; Lamoignon purse with $800 added; Lamoignon purse with $500 added; Atlantic purse with $800 added; Lamoignon purse with $400 added; Norfolk purse, with $500 added.

Represented here for the first time are many of the great metropolitan racing stables including those of August Belmont, R. T. Wilson, Jr., Capt. E. H. Cassatt, Thomas F. Ryan, Percy A. Price and P. S. Randolph.

FACTORY DAY IDEA MET WITH APPROVAL

Saturday Promises To Be Most Interesting To Citizens Generally.

Saturday is to be Factory Day in Janesville, in honor of the United Travelers, but everybody is invited to visit the factories that are to be open. A heavy response has been received from the Janesville manufacturers to the request to keep open houses for visitors during the day, but it has been impossible to communicate with everybody and if there are any whose names are not included in the following list who would like to have visitors on that day they are requested to notify Mr. Roy Wisner of the Wisconsin Carriage Company.

The following concerns are to be open the entire day:

Thoroughgood & Co., 205 North Main street, manufacturers of cigar boxes. In conversation Mr. Kimball said, "We are very anxious to have the people of Janesville and surrounding territory come to see what we are doing and we can tell them that we will give them each a sample of the newly discovered near-breakfast food, 'Sawdust'."

The Calorite Co., McKee Blvd., the largest manufacturers of fireless cookers in the world. Special preparations for visitors will be made all day. There will be a model kitchen, run by uniformed waiters who will give demonstrations of the superior qualities of the "Calorite."

The following will be open only in the morning:

Tough Shade Co., Spring Brook, manufacturers of window shades and hammocks. The largest and oldest manufacturers of this class of goods in the United States and said to be one of the most interesting factories in the northwest.

The following will be open only in the afternoon:

Henderson & Lane, Wall and High streets, Bureka Bakery, will not be baking that afternoon but visitors will be welcome to go through the factory.

Bassett & Behl, 12 Court street, manufacturers of harness and saddlery; open from 3 to 5.

Buch Brewing Co., 511 Belmont Ave., open all afternoon.

Colvin Baking Co., 300-301 East Milwaukee street, open all afternoon.

Corn Baking Co., North River St., open all afternoon.

Hansen Furniture Co., North Hickory street, manufacturers of dining room tables. Open all afternoon.

Janesville Wire Co., 203 South Franklin street, manufacturers of "Apex" woven wire fences. Open all afternoon.

Janesville Hitting Mills, 218 North River street, manufacturers of cotton bales. Open all afternoon.

Janesville Machine Co., South Franklin street, manufacturers of agricultural implements. Open from 3 to 5.

Janesville Shirt & Overall Co., 216 North Franklin street, open from 3 to 5.

Leeds Knitting Co., 120 South Main street, open all afternoon.

Monitor Automobile Works, 209 North Academy street, manufacturers of commercial trucks, open from 1 to 5.

Parker Pen Co., 200-201 East Milwaukee street, manufacturers of the "Lucky Curve" fountain pens, open from 2 to 5.

Rock River Cotton Co., 110 Wall street, manufacturers of "Crown Jewels" cotton bales and burlap, open all afternoon.

Rock River Machine Co., 411-417 North Main street, manufacturers of machines and shears. Open all afternoon and will have several large machines in operation Saturday afternoon for the visitors.

Rock River Woolen Mills, 1405 Riverside, open all afternoon.

Strickler Day Tool Co., 225 North Main street, manufacturers of Strickler and Janesville Day Tools, open all afternoon.

Shurtleff Co., 110 South Main street, manufacturers of "Peerless" tea Cream and "Purity" butter, open from 2 to 4.

Wisconsin Carriage Co., 601-611 West Milwaukee street, manufacturers of Janesville buggies, open all afternoon.

Others will be announced later.

TAKE STEPS TO PLAN FOR MEETING AUTOS

President Lovejoy of the Industrial and Commercial Club Will Name Special Committee.

With a view of meeting the Path-finder's car and his party of Chicago motorists who are to reach Janesville Saturday evening to arrange for the interchange run in June, President Lovejoy of the Industrial and Commercial club will appoint a special committee and the two will meet the Chicago party on Saturday evening to talk over details of the party's stay here over night June 15. It is expected that some two hundred enthusiasts will be here, fifty autos at least competing, as well as several other outside cars. Janesville has been selected as the "night control station," and the cars will make 140 miles, coming from Chicago here.

ELECTION RESULTS DELIGHTED CROWDS

Noley Demonstration Took Place Last Night After Results of Yesterday's Vote Was Known.

Interest in the outcome of the elections in the city yesterday was lively, particularly in regard to the mayor's race. Results from the polls were posted in the Gazette office as soon as they were received and despite the unpleasant weather a good crowd was present to learn how the election went. Telephone calls also were very numerous, all lines from the Gazette to the central offices being kept busy for two hours after the polls closed.

A noisy demonstration was carried on in the downtown district after the results of the election became known. South River street for a time resembled a college town after a football victory. Here the crowds congregated and the fires of light from huge bonfires illumined the thoroughfare. Fuel supplies were drawn from piles of boxes and other inflammable materials in nearby alleys and the fires were kept burning brightly until after midnight. The revelers expressed their approval of the outcome of the vote in long, lusty cheers.

CHILD ESCAPES A HORRIBLE DEATH

Four Year Old Child of Mrs. Schreiber Falls in Boiling Water And Is Saved.

In playing about the kitchen while his mother was washing clothes yesterday afternoon, the four years old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schreiber, 509 Locust street, backed into a tub of boiling water and received severe burns on the arms and back. The child is resting as quietly as could be expected today.

Mrs. Schreiber had taken the tub of water from the stove and placed it on the floor and gone about her washing without thinking of the child who was running around the room. Her back being turned, she was attracted by a scream and a splash. She turned around to find the baby lying on its back in the boiling water. She promptly lifted him out and called Dr. F. H. Farnsworth, who dressed the wounds and assured the frantic mother that the child was not fatally injured. Had it not been for the prompt work of Mrs. Schreiber in taking the child from the tub the accident might have resulted fatally or in permanent disablement for the little one.

DELANEY RELEASED ON OWN BAIL BOND

Carle Case Against Henry Delaney Laid Over Until May 5 and He Was Given Freedom Until Then.

Henry Delaney, alleged burglar of the Carle store and Stogel saloon on South River street, has been released from the county jail pending his appearance for trial in the municipal court on May 5. Delaney was arraigned in court this morning in the proceedings for a retrial of the Carle case and the motion of Attorney Dougherty, asking adjournment for thirty days in order to secure an important witness and make further investigations. The district attorney agreed to the motion and it was granted by the judge. On behalf of his client, Mr. Dougherty asked that as Delaney had been confined in jail for some time and neither the prisoner nor his parents had the funds for bail, the man be allowed to go on his own recognizance, to appear in court, or have his attorney appear for him, on the day set for the new trial. This was also allowed.

IS NOT WORRIED BY ACTION OF COUNCIL

Chief Engineer Ellis of the Cincinnati Construction Co. Says They Have Not Forfeited Their Franchise.

Despite the fact that the council on Monday night rescinded the franchise granted the Cincinnati Construction company to run through certain streets in Janesville, Chief Engineer Ellis of that company was down from Madison yesterday and smiled when told the council had revoked his company's license. "It makes no difference," he said. "We had actually begun work on prescribed in the franchise and it will hold in the law. However, if there is any question about it we will apply for another charter when we are actually ready to begin construction."

When asked when this would be Mr. Ellis said: "Shortly. Our plans are nearly completed now and we will be in shape to do business." The work referred to was evidently the digging up of a few squares of dirt last fall on North Main street and then having to replace it. The same thing was done in Edgerton and Stoughton and it is believed the company will hold that this constituted actual grading work and commencement of the construction of the roadbed, as prescribed in the franchise. However, as the situation now stands the company have no legal standing unless given it by a court of law, and they really intend to build will have to begin all over again and make application to the council for a new franchise.

Leon D. Lambert returned to Chicago Tuesday evening after a visit with his grandmother, Mrs. H. L. Sloan, on Fourth avenue.

Zull Elected: David Zull, who has many friends in this city, was elected mayor of Whitewater, Tuesday, defeating his socialist opponent by thirty votes. Mr. Zull was one of the assistant marshals at the state fair last year and saved several hundred persons from injury when a mad-dened bull escaped from the tubercular slaughter pen and ran amuck through the crowd. Zull caught and tied the animal alone.

NASH*ATHLETIC EVENTS ON FRIDAY EVENING

Senior-Faculty Basketball Game and Inter-Class Relay Races Are Scheduled at High School.

On Friday evening of this week the annual Senior-Faculty basketball game will be played at the high school gymnasium. At the same time the inter-class relay races will be held and the freshmen and sophomores will clash in a game of basketball.

There is considerable excitement as to the Senior-Faculty game and although for the past few years the faculty has lost, every effort will be exerted this year to retrieve past defeats. All the officials have been selected with the exception of score-keeper, who will undoubtedly have an arduous task. It is said that the faculty are skillful players with great endurance powers. The seniors, although lighter, are fast and quick. An unusually large crowd will witness the contest.

Entertained Choir: The members of the Junior choir of the Congregational church were entertained last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Craig, 603 Court street. The evening was pleasantly spent with amusements of various sorts and light refreshments were served. Over forty young people were present.

HIS FIRST LONG TROUSERS.

Elusive Eyeglass Case.
 "I can't seem to be able to find my eyeglass case," said a visitor at the Volcott. "I have just lost the sixth case I have bought or begged since I came to New York." The clerk threw open a drawer filled with articles of the kind mentioned and the visitor was able to identify three of them as his. The lot in the drawer had been garnered in three days.—New York Sun.

No Fixed Rules.
 You cannot administer human life by means of rules. No general statement covers the whole heart-rending economic situation. After the idle and dissolute have been eliminated there remains a large class of men and women (and especially women) who are the helpless victims of the working of unchristian social conditions, and whose sufferings call for the most generous sympathy and the wisest aid.—Christian Endeavor World.

A Paradox.
 It is said that for horses the hardest road out of London is the most level one. There are no hills to climb and descend, and the tired horse has no chance to rest one set of muscles while another works. Monotony produces fatigue; and because this particular road is one dead, monotonous level more horses die on it than on any other leading out of London.—Paul W. Goldsbury in the Atlantic.

A Mystification.
 "I don't see why those classic dances are so fashionable," said the society editor. "They are very artistic." "Perhaps," but there is so little chance to describe what the people who give them wear."

Little Bed-Time Tales

By EDITH HAVENS

The Boy of the Woods

He lived deep within the woods this little boy and his father was a trapper. Nobody ever came to see them. There were no roads, no cities or towns within miles, just a quiet, peaceful solitude.

The little boy and his father lived in a little log cabin in the shelter of a great cliff and a rushing brook awoke little Eric each morning.

Of course there were no other little boys or girls to play with and so it was that the boy chose as his playmates the animals and the birds.

During the day he was generally busy with his father. They would go out on long trips through the woods, visiting the traps to see what animal had been caught during the night. Perhaps there were fifty traps in all and at nightfall the two would come home loaded down with their catch. Eric loved that part of day just between night and day the best of all. After his supper was eaten he would wander off to some favorite spot where he would sit and talk to his friends of the forest. He knew all the bird cries and he would, "caw-caw" quietly and wait for an answer. Presently from afar would come the answering cry. Again he would call. This time the answer would come nearer until finally ly a rustle would be heard in the trees close by and the bird would call almost in Eric's ear.

"Hullo, bluejay," he would say and it seemed as if the bird understood, for he would cock his head on one side and answer back in the prettiest kind of a way.

Some nights Eric would call the Bob-o-link or the Bob White or the black-bird. He knew them all and they all knew him.

Once in a while when the little boy had something very serious on his mind he would call to the old Owl, whom he had named King Cole, and after the arrival of the bird he would tell him all his troubles while his big feathered friend would say "hoo-hoo," in answer.

Once in a while he would make a very funny noise and let the squirrels would peek out from their tree holes, then scamper down the trees to his side.

And this was the way little Eric lived from one year's end to the other. No, he wasn't a bit lonesome. He loved the woods and everything in it.

Some night if you hear an extra amount of birds calling think of little Eric, for perhaps one of the birds who once lived where he did are trying to call to him again.

Government and Science.

There does not exist to-day a nation more intelligent in its attitude towards science than the British. With unequalled opportunities for advancing man's knowledge of nature and therefore combating the stealthy ravages which nature plots against him for his disregard of her conditions, the British government severely lifts a finger in any direction to help on the work of scientific research.—London Standard.

The estimated weight was 8,000 tons, yet it was carried 125 feet a year by the prevailing south winds.

SLATED FOR COLLEGE HEAD

J. H. Finley or John Grier Hibben to Be President University of Princeton.

New York, April 5.—The presidency of Princeton university lies between President John H. Finley of the College of the City of New York and Prof. John Grier Hibben of Princeton, the Times says. The special committee of the trustees appointed to nominate a president to succeed Gov. Woodrow Wilson is expected to decide between them at a special meeting at Princeton.

Prof. Henry B. Fine of Princeton and Dean Andrew F. West of the Princeton Graduate school were eliminated from consideration, according to the Times, because certain members of the committee feared they had been too close to the recent controversy over the graduate school to unite the factions at the university.

Dr. Finley is in his forty-eighth year. He is not a Princeton man, but was professor of politics there from 1900 to 1903. Prof. Hibben is a Princeton man of the class of '83. He has been professor of logic since 1893.

Both counties had eliminated saloons in elections two years ago.

WOMAN'S PAGE

To Our Women Readers.

"Let us eat and drink
For tomorrow we shall die."

The second "Woman's Contest" began Saturday last. This time you must suggest a menu for a week, 21 meals. The rules of the contest are:
Write on one side of the paper only.
Menus must be made up entirely from recipes printed on the woman's page of the Gazette.
Menus must be mailed to Feature Editor of the Gazette by May 1st, 1911.
Menus must be accompanied with a list of dates giving date of publication of the recipes used.
Here are a few suggestions that will help.

Secure from the Gazette the FREE scrap book and paste into it each night the receipts published. This scrap book can be had free in exchange for the scrap book coupon which appears in the Gazette every day during April. Call at the Gazette office for it, or send for it by mail, enclosing 2c stamp to pay postage.

If you have any "pet" recipe that you would like to use in your menus, and you think they will not be published on the woman's page so as to make them available for contest use, simply write the recipe on a piece of paper and mail it to the Feature Editor. It will then be published and you can use it, but every other contestant will be allowed to use it if they wish. The art in this contest is to select recipes in such a manner as to make the entire menu in harmony. It calls for the best talent in each contestant, and is going to make this contest the most interesting ever inaugurated in Janesville.

If additional information is desired, or if any part of the above is not perfectly understood, address

"FEATURE EDITOR," GAZETTE.

FOUR PRIZES WILL BE AWARDED—

FIRST PRIZE—CALORIC FIRELESS COOKER.

SECOND PRIZE—$5.00 IN GOLD.

THIRD PRIZE—$3.00.

FOURTH PRIZE—$2.00.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

THE man-who-thinks is about to take part of his summer vacation. The other half he will take in late September or October.

Say his critics: "But it will be terrible to have to work all through the hot summer."

And this is the explanation of his conduct which the man-who-thinks gives—that is, when he cares enough for the critics to bother to give any.

"I used to take my summer vacation regular as clock work, the first two weeks of August up to five years ago. I thought I couldn't get through the summer unless I did. And then things happened so I had to take a week in May and a week in October and I liked it so well I've done that ever since."

"In the first place I never feel so much like going on a vacation as I do when the ice is just out of the lakes."

"And in the second place, I am never more tired than I am at the end of the winter rush. I don't see how I ever got through the summer without the strength I build up in that week."

"And in the third place, think of the joy of escaping the summer crowds. I am sure to get a star room and the best of attention. I always meet a few interesting people but never get into a mob."

"And anyway, in my mind the most comfortable place in summer is just home. I don't know any time when I appreciate my own tub and shower, my own cool and well screened room and the surety of knowing just what I'm getting to eat any more than in July and August."

"It's a mighty bad time to change your diet. How many people are sick if they stay at home and take proper care of themselves? But, just look at the people who go off and over-eat and over-drink in the hot weather and get upset by it."

"And then if there's anything more thoroughly dirty and uncomfortable than traveling in summer I have yet to find it. I remember one year when I went to Lake Tahoe, because I'd heard what a beautiful and restful spot it was. I had to take a sleeper that left at eleven. It took me until three to get to sleep on account of the heat and I was called at half past five. I waited three hours at a little junction, where you couldn't get a thing to eat. Then I spent four hours on a train that stopped at every farmer's back door and in the middle of the day on the hottest day of the summer I drove fifteen miles in an open team along the hottest, dustiest road that two scraggly old dopes of horses ever trotted down. I came so near having a sunstroke that there wasn't any fun in it. It was a restful spot when you got there, all right, but it took me about half the time I was there to get over that journey and the other half getting up courage for the return trip. No, sir, no traveling in summer for mine, not if there's any way of getting out of it."

Sometimes the critics of the man-who-thinks are converted so that they avow their intention of trying his plan some time.

Always they admit, "There's something in that."

Don't you agree?

The KITCHEN CABINET

AND was their lodging, home-ly was their food.
For all their luxury was doing good."
—Samuel Garth.

"The simplest knowledge has the largest faith. Ignorance is always heretic." —Willmot.

The Visiting Nurse.

What a boon to suffering humanity is the visiting nurse. In so many small towns and cities she is supported entirely by the Visiting Nurses' association, and donations from public spirited citizens.

In the poor home she comes as an angel of cheer, staying for an hour or two, to give the patient a bath, leave directions for the care of the sick one, smoothing the rough places, and leaving the home comfortable and hopeful.

For those who are able to pay for a visit from the nurse, many being glad to avail themselves of this good care, a simple fee is paid, which goes into the Visiting Nurses' association treasury. The ladies forming this association have monthly meetings, provide bedding and infants' clothing for those who are poor, and unprovided.

She shows the home nurse how to read the clinical thermometer and tells her never to take the temperature of a patient just after giving very hot or very cold liquids, or after a meal, as these processes change the temperature.

Never tell a patient what the thermometer indicates. Give him an evasive answer.

The temperature of a normal person is 98.6, and any deviation indicates that something is wrong.

Never wear creaking shoes or a rattling gown, or sit in a rocking chair that squeaks, or the floor under it groans with your weight, for all these things slight in themselves, are torture to an irritable patient. The rattling of a newspaper is often enough to make them want to scream.

The visiting nurse will also show you how to count the pulse. In an adult 72 beats to the minute is normal, though it may vary. Respirations are from 18 to 22 in the adult. Those many vary slightly, but above 20 or below 12 look for trouble. The counting of the respirations should always be done without the patient's knowledge, as he then breathes naturally.

Nellie Maxwell.

EXTRA RECIPES.

Fruit Chow Chow.

Use fruits that are in season and pour over them a good, strong vinegar, cold, for each pound of fruit as you put it in the jar, allow three-quarters of a pound of granulated sugar or more if you like a sweeter pickle. Stir the mixture every day from the bottom so that the sugar will dissolve. At the end add plums and peaches. If apples and pears they should be quartered and cored, but never seeded. Remove the pits from peaches and all seeds from fruits. As each fruit is added, put in a layer of sugar and do not neglect to give it the daily stirring, as this is the secret of success. Remember that the greater the variety of fruit the better the chow-chow will taste.

Clam Toast.

Toast that is served with thickened milk is often called cream toast, although no cream enters into its composition. When this thickening is thoroughly cooked into the milk and well stirred, the cream and milk are well blended and the mixture is served, but it is often anything but palatable.

Bread for cream toast may be cut a little thicker than for plain dry toast and it should be well dried and of a uniform brown. If cream is used boil it, and thicken it with one even tablespoonful flour wet in cold water for each cup of cream, add a little salt and then let it cook in the double boiler for at least ten minutes.

When milk must take the place of cream heat it and add it gradually to one rounded tablespoon flour, which has been cooked in one rounded tablespoon butter in a smooth mixture. Add half a level teaspoon salt and stir until thick and smooth and cook eight minutes. Dip the dry toast in a little hot milk and pour the thickened milk or "dip" over each slice.

If you want it very delicious, serve with some mild apple jelly.

Plain Fruit Cake.

Cream one cup butter with one cup sugar, add two eggs well beaten, one cup milk, one cup molasses and four cups flour with two teaspoons mixed spice and one teaspoon soda. Then stir in one cup currants and one cup chopped raisins. Bake in a deep pan.

A New England Apple Pie Custard. Steep quartered apples in a very little water until they are tender; then rub them through a colander. For one pie allow one pint of cooked apples while they are still hot stir into them a spoonful of butter, one cup of sugar two well beaten eggs and half a cup of cream. Bake a deep pie plate with rich crust rolled thin, and fill the plate with the prepared mixture. Bake in a quick oven. A meringue may be put over the top if desired after the pie is baked.

Macaroni is valuable cold weather food. It is not only very nutritious, but supplies a goodly amount of heat to the body. For luncheon or supper it is most delicious prepared with cheese and tomato, in which case it is sufficiently hearty for the substantial part of the meal.

Cost a half can of tomatoes for fifteen minutes; season well with butter, salt and pepper and a bit of sugar; then strain, rubbing through all possible. Use either hot or cold boiled macaroni. Put a layer into a buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, and a few drops of onion juice if desired. Add a layer of grated cheese, then some of the tomato. Repeat until ingredients are used. Cover with buttered crumbs and bake for twenty minutes closely covered, then remove cover and brown.

A HOMELY? for CHILDREN.

My child, when we consider things
And how they are arranged
We learn that though we all were
kings
We would not have them changed.
Four fingers on each hand are placed
To help us do our sums
We would not add up bills in haste
If all of them were thumbs.

Our arms are where they need be,
If they were elsewhere
We'd all be utterly at sea
In doing up our hair;
Our hands are aptly fitted, too—
If they were at our feet,
How could we ever tie a shoe
Or help ourselves to eat?

How excellent it is that ears
Are set outside the head!
It is through them that each one hears

Each thing that may be said,
And that our fingers and our toes
Help us to look ahead;
We could not look so very far
Were they not back instead.

The feet are aptly disposed
To aid one as he stands
Else every stroll would soon be closed
While he was shaking hands—
The back is in the proper place—
If it should ever be sore
Or chafed to come below the face,
What could we do upon?

Let us rejoice that eyes and nose
And ears are aptly fixed
And that our fingers and our toes
Are not misplaced and mixed,
My child when we consider things
And how they are arranged
We learn that, though we all were
kings
We would not have them changed.

The Old Decalogue still the Law.

A woman lawyer spending recently before one of the prominent women's clubs of the country said she believed that a woman had a right to smuggle or break any of the laws which she had no part in making. The remarks were called out by the rather severe punishment meted out of a woman who had been convicted of smuggling. Now it is pretty difficult to get this lawyer's methods of arriving at the conclusions she did. Her contention was that because women have had no part in making the laws, that is, be-

Thin Hair on Top

A Dox of Parisian Sage in Time Multiplies One Hair by Nine.

Young men, old men, middle age men all begin to worry when the hair thinning out on the top of the head, and the bald spot is getting ready to appear in public.

They don't know what to do; they get rattled, ask advice, try specialists, listen to barbers and do everything they ought not to do.

To these men we want to say that the People's Drug Co. has a prescription for the hair called Parisian Sage, and if it will not cause hair to grow where the hair is thinning out, nothing on this earth will.

And we want to say to everybody, man, woman and child, that you can have your money back if Parisian Sage isn't the best hair grower, hair saver, hair beautifier and dandruff cure on the market today.

It stops itching scalp and falling hair, and makes hair grow thick and abundantly. Fifty cents for a large bottle at the People's Drug Co., and druggists everywhere. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every bottle.

cause they have had no franchise they have a moral right to break laws with impunity.

One is forced to speculate on the kind of reasoning this is. Children have no part in making the rules that govern the home yet they are punished when they flagrantly break them. The more persistently they break them the more severely they are punished. If a child lies or steals his father is to set the little one right, but if it persists in stealing and lying it is punished. If it grows up with these traits unrestrained it is called a perversity and the law takes it in hand.

Men, long before they thought much about enfranchisement, long before there was universal manhood suffrage, obeyed the law as a matter of course. Most people have a very distinct recollection of having read or heard somewhere of an incident when a prophet and leader called Moses came down from the mountains with a set of laws of ten sections which became the organic law of the civilized world and the basis of the fundamental law of every nation in the world. It is the basis upon which all our laws of today are constructed. Each of the ten sections of that old Mosaic law began with the solemn adjuration "thou shalt not" and among the "thou shalt not" were such things as theft, murder, false witness, adultery and a few things that are popularly known as the cardinal sins.

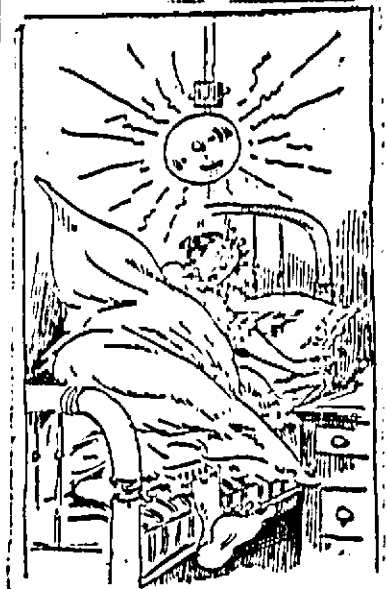

Some of us with more or less Puritanical leanings have a distinct recollection of having learned these laws at the knees of our mothers and so deep is our respect for the teacher and so profound the impression left upon us by the old decalogue that we are prone to consider it still of some importance in the affairs of men. Leastwise we are childish enough to believe that it still sways the wayward impulses of men and women toward the right when they are inclined to do wrong.

So no one feels sorry when a brilliant woman suggests that it is right for women to break any of these laws simply because they have had no part in making them. The woman who wants the ballot must feel a sense of obligation and responsibility for the keeping of all the laws and she must feel it as a personal duty to do all she can toward their proper enforcement.

The question of punishment for smuggling is not whether the government is acting arbitrarily. It is a matter of enforcing the laws on the statute books and of keeping order in a very important department of the government.

If the customs laws are obnoxious there is a remedy in the hands of a sovereign people—a modification or an expunging of the law.

KATHERINE KIP.

FIRST ELECTRIC BATTERY.

April 5.—(This is the date on which the electric battery was discovered, and the year was 1800. Alessandro Volta was the name of the inventor, and thus we got the word "voltage". Galvani was another who was looking for something new and had invented a battery composed of metals and chemicals, and thus the term "galvanic battery" came into use. Frogs were used to experiment on, to try the power of the new force, and enough of them were put out of business to furnish material for numberless Broadway luncheon scandals. Now the "battery" is used for everything, from ringing the bell that rings the cook in the morning to the "battery" that runs the auto driven by the lady who tries to run down all the pedestrians at the street crossing. As

LIGHTEN DIET WHEN UNDER STRAIN.

When there is, temporarily, great mental strain, it is best rather to decrease than to increase the ration, and make it up when normal conditions are restored. The strain will be better borne if the digestive system is relieved partly or entirely, allowing the nervous energy to be diverted to the brain or muscles, as the case may be. If this be not done the digestive system will be weakened, whereas by the other course it will be strengthened. You cannot work brain or muscle to their fullest capacity, and at the same time work the digestive and eliminative system to its limit.

New Brown Bread Recipe

Never soggy—Easily made

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

Nearly everybody likes Boston brown bread, but so many have experienced trouble with its being soggy, they have become discouraged. Here is a new recipe that cannot fail if the few simple directions are carefully followed. You will be delighted with the results.

K C Brown Bread.
One and one-half cup yellow corn meal, 1 1/2 cup entire-wheat flour, 1 cup spoon salt, 1 1/2 cup sweet milk, 1/2 cup molasses, 5 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder.

Sift together, three times, meal, flour, salt and baking powder. Mix molasses and sweet milk and stir into dry ingredients to make a smooth batter. Turn into two empty K C Baking Powder boxes, thoroughly buttered, and let steam three hours. This bread is particularly good to serve with salads or raw oysters; also at breakfast, as toast of all kinds.

Raisins or currants may be added, though some prefer it without.

Readers of this paper may obtain The Cook's Book containing this and 39 other delicious recipes free by sending the colored certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the JAGUINS MFG. CO., Chicago. Send for The Cook's Book today.

WEDDED FOR A HALF CENTURY

MR. AND MRS. ISAAC BRINK OF EVANSVILLE CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING.

FRIENDS GATHER AT HOME

Couple Who Are in Excellent Health Came to Evansville in Spring of 1867.

MR. AND MRS. IS. AAC BRINK.

Mr. and Mrs. Brink are both natives of the Keystone state. The former was born in Shicklesville, Bradford county, Nov. 26, 1835, while Mrs. Brink first saw the light of day on September 23, 1811, in North Orwell, also in Bradford county, Pennsylvania. Her maiden name was Miss Chloe Hill. They came to Wisconsin in 1850 and settled in the town of Argyle, La Fayette county, and on April 3, 1861, the couple were married, taking their vows at Argyle, Wis. In the spring of 1867 they came to Evansville to reside, and Mr. Brink worked at his trade, that of a stone mason. He assisted in building the original school house, and many of the older buildings in this vicinity still stand as a monument to his handiwork. They remained in Evansville for seven years, when they moved onto the place known as the old Danted Johnson farm where they spent six years. Mr. Brink then bought a large farm a mile and a quarter west of town where they resided until five years ago when they moved back to Evansville. While Mr. Brink superintended the work on the farm he continued to work at his trade.

Although Mr. and Mrs. Brink have led active lives they do not seem to age with the passing of the years. Though there is now "silver threads among the gold," their hearts are still young and they are as cheery and youthful in spirit as in days of yore, and the pleasant face and genial smile of both show that domestic happiness has reigned supreme in their home which is noted for its hospitality. Indeed, time has dealt very kindly with them, for although he is past seventy-five years and she is but a few years his junior, they are not aged in appearance. Mr. Brink still follows his accustomed occupation and enjoys being active.

Their children, two sons and a daughter, George Brink of Milwaukee and Jay Brink and Mrs. Richard Carson, both of this city, were all present to assist in the celebration. During the day congratulatory telegrams were received from Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Leighton of Seattle, Wash., Miss L. E. Leighton of Washington, and Charles W. P. Pullen of Milwaukee. The couple also received a number of beautiful gifts as souvenirs of the golden jubilee. The occasion was a most happy one and will always bring hallowed memories to the bride and groom of fifty years, and will be a particularly bright spot in the hearts of the guests. Mr. and Mrs. Brink were the recipients of many congratulations and wishes for happiness and health through the coming years.

Frank Hagline, a cousin from Madison, Mrs. J. P. Carle and Mrs. Lulu Dixon of Janesville, Mrs. Evaline Hubbard and Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Smith of Brooklyn were present, besides over a hundred Evansville guests, who were: Dr. and Mrs. C. M. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Smith, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Anson Baldwin, Mrs. E. M. S. Hawley, Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Evans, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. John Tuller, Mr. and Mrs. H. Simmons, Mrs. David Dixon, Mrs. A. Eager, Mrs. Gertrude Eager, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Carson and sons, Leighton and Emory, George Brink, Jay Brink, Mr. and Mrs. George Pullen, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Smith, Frank A. Baker, Mr. L. M. Mygatt, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Doolittle, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Phillips and daughters, the Misses Mae and Wilma, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Baker, Mr. and Mrs. L. PASSION PLAY OF 1911 DESCRIBED BY PROF. PARLIN Prominent Educator of State Gave Stereoscopic Lecture on Wonderful Exhibition at M. C. Church Last Night.

The whole number of votes cast in the city today was 298, an extra good vote considering the weather. The officers elected are: First ward, Frank Frost, alderman; M. L. Paulson, supervisor, Second ward; V. A. Axel, alderman; A. C. Gray, supervisor, Third ward; O. D. Chaplin, alderman; Dr. C. M. Smith, Jr., supervisor, O. D. Antiel, county superintendent of schools, received 220 votes; Vingo for justice of supreme court, 188; Field for municipal judge, 224.

The election in the town of Union resulted as follows: Whole number of votes cast, 41; supervisors, John Tuller, Thomas Steele and Frank Hyne, each receiving 41 votes; clerk, C. E. Brook, 41; assessor, Ira Jones, 41; treasurer, Leo Campbell, 40; justices of the peace, A. G. Franklin, 40; Leo Campbell, 40; W. E. Reese, 41; Constables: Milo Gillies, 41; and C. Jones, 40; Antiel, 33; Vinje, 27.

Messrs. Hatch and Williams of Janesville rendered a delightful musical program on the harp and violin, playing throughout the entire afternoon and evening. Mr. Hatch also sang several selections, among the numbers being some of the old time songs so dear to the hearts of the guests who were nearing the golden wedding age.

The picture slides obtained for the lecture were wonderfully true, and their coloring and tone conveyed to the audience much of the actual beauty and solemnity of the great drama. "Ghosts of the village," the residents, their characters in the play, and their every day life were shown. Especial attention was called by Mr. Parlin to the fact that those actors who have the most important roles in the play are those whose home lives lack any show or pretense, the people showing a humility which is indeed surprising in view of the fact that they take such important parts in this world famous production.

The scenes showing the open stage, wherein the great chorus, composed of many Oberammergau residents, appears the closed stage, where the beautiful tableaux are shown, and the side entries, depicting scenes in Jerusalem, were accurately portrayed. The contrast of some of the tableaux, showing old testament scenes, with the acts of the play, depicting incidents in the life of Christ, was noteworthy. Some of the most important scenes, such as the accounting of the money changers in the temple, the triumphant entry, the departure from Mary, the temple of Judah, the last kiss of Christ on earth, were thrown on the screen. The crucifixion scene and the resurrection, Christ's appearance to Mary Magdalene, and the final ascension scene were marvellously beautiful. The whole combination of views, together with the reverent and deferent attitude of the speaker towards his subject, made a lasting impression on his audience. Mr. Parlin has absorbed from his visit to Oberammergau and view of the Passion play, the spirit in which the peasants strive to present the scenes of holy life of Christ on earth.

BAPTIST MEN GAVE EVENING TO LADIES

Annual Ladies' Night Meeting of Baptist Men's Club Characterized By Good Addresses.

Last evening occurred the annual ladies' night banquet of the Men's club of the Baptist church in the church parlors the occasion ending forth some of the speeches and good music. During the banquet which was served by the ladies of the church, the splendid index of the helpful circle, splendid music was furnished by the orchestra of the Baptist church. Much was added to the success of the evening by the remarks of the toastmaster J. B. Humphreys.

The address of City Treasurer Father on "Finance" was most interesting and enjoyable and many of the phases of city finance were explained by him. Speaking of the tax on real estate, he said that the difficulty lay in the fact that the taxes which were most productive were not the most equitable. The last levy by the council amounted to $182,000 and the next budget is to be made out at the meeting of the city fathers in October. His address was followed by a selection by a male quartet composed of Messrs. Duane, Van Pool, Collett and Austin. This was well received and the selection was followed by an encore.

"Banks and Banking" was the topic of an address by Frank H. Jackson. The methods and practices of the banks of this country were illustrated by the speaker very strikingly, and in a very interesting manner. The fact that a business man may be a depositor today and a borrower tomorrow was used as an illustration of the fluctuating nature of the banking business. He said that there were no institutions which were more the enemies of the banks and gave as an instance of this, the recent inflation for the guaranty of bank deposits. He told of the influence of such a regulation saying that it would reduce the amount of money available for the local borrower and again would make the sound and conservative banks the victims of the wild cat institutions.

Miss Anna C. Cutter gave a reading in the form of a story from the juvenile courts of Chicago, and responded to an appeal with a humorous Italian dialect piece. Miss Cutter is a very talented elocutist and her readings were thoroughly enjoyed by those present. T. S. Nolan had for his subject, "Investments," and his manner of treating the topic was most pleasing and at the same time instructive. He advised the seeker for investments to go to the banker for advice as he was the man who would know more about that matter than anyone. He named banks which were recommended by the bank as the best kind of an investment. He also stated that real estate excepting business property was not so good an investment as bonds.

Selection returns were announced during the evening.

DAMAGE CASE STILL IN HANDS OF JURY

No Decision in Automobile Suit Before Judge Grimm in Green County Circuit Court.

Local News. Menace, Wis., April 5.—The case of Menace Larkin vs. Earl Voegele, of Montello, went to the jury yesterday afternoon and at a late hour no decision had been rendered. The plaintiff claims $1,500 damages against Voegele for an accident near Rice Lake last August, at which time an automobile driven by the defendant and a horse and buggy occupied by Larkin and his wife came into collision at a corner in the country. The plaintiff brought six witnesses from Barron. The only remaining case on the circuit court calendar is that of Frank J. Schweigler vs. the Citizens Bank of New Glarus, which will be called when the other case is disposed of.

Ray Crow and Clarence Trickle are making a stay in Chicago. The latter, who started as center with the Cardinals, had been traded to the Cardinals and several weeks ago had some of his ribs cracked in a collision on the floor, will undergo an operation while in the city on the injured members, which will have to be reset.

Mrs. M. M. Sutherland celebrated her 88th birthday anniversary at the home of her daughter, Mrs. G. H. McLean. An informal reception marked the event.

Mrs. Rose Stecky has sold her home on East Washington street to Burton H. Selby, and will go to Montello to make her home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Stuntz are making a visit to relatives in Albany.

Mrs. John Howe is in Chicago, the guest of her daughter, Miss Mae Howe, who is taking a nurses training course.

QUASH INDICTMENT IN LAND FRAUDS

Charges of Conspiracy Against Three Dismissed.

Attorney General's Assistant Decides to Carry Alaskan Coal Cases to High Tribunal on Writ of Error.

Seattle, Wash., April 5.—By agreement of counsel, the indictment against Charles F. Munday, Earl E. Slegley and Archie Shields, charging them with conspiracy to defraud the United States in the location of Alaska coal lands, was quashed by United States Judge Hanford and the defendants were discharged. An appeal was taken to the Supreme court.

The court proceedings were formal. J. D. Townsend, representing the government, said the court's ruling left but one ground on which to base a prosecution, namely, that the entries had been for the benefit of the Pacific Coal and Oil company, a foreign corporation.

Great Interests Involved. If it were the only land case pending he would proceed with the testimony at once, but there were many indictments and great interests involved, and the government desired that a record be made here and reviewed by the supreme court, in order that the questions in controversy might be settled for all time.

Therefore, he said, the government would abandon its contention regarding the foreign character of the Pacific Coal and Oil company. Counsel for the defense moved that the indictments be quashed and the defendants discharged on the ground that the indictments did not charge a crime. Mr. Townsend assented to the proposed action and, in order that the defendants should not be placed twice in jeopardy, asked that a juror be withdrawn.

Court Strikes Off Juror No. 21, quashed the indictments, discharged the defendants and excused the remaining jurors.

VOTED ON CHANGE IN HIGH SCHOOL

Altering of the System Now Used Was the Question for Decision at Milton.

Milton, April 5.—The only exciting question at the village election here was whether the present high school system, adopted a year ago, should be continued. One hundred and eighty votes were cast against the change and only four for it. Fifty-five ladies cast their votes. The vote for the present system, county superintendent and village officers was practically unanimous.

Debate. The judges in a debate between the Men's Lyceums of Milton college decided in favor of the affirmative. Much credit is due the speakers on both the affirmative and negative side for the way in which they handled the subject.

Affirmative: Orophillan Lyceum—Leader, A. E. Garey; C. W. Greene. Negative: Philo Lyceum—Leader, C. G. Daland; L. O. Greene.

SAYS EVIDENCE IS FAKED

Camorlat De Marinis, Charged With Plotting Two Murders, Makes Attack on Ring Exhibit.

Viterbo, Italy, April 5.—The jury in the Camorra trial listened to the interrogation and defense of Giuseppe De Marinis, charged with having planned the murder of Camorra Cuccolo and his wife, Maria. He claimed among other things that a portion of the evidence against him was faked.

In telling the story of the murders, Abbatemaggio had said that De Marinis took possession of Cuccolo's ring. The carabinieri claimed to have found the ring at the home of a woman friend of De Marinis.

De Marinis, who is an expert in jewelry, when handed the ring in question, declared it had never been worn, and that it was too small for Cuccolo.

The BRONZE BELL

BY LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE
AUTHOR OF "THE BRASS BOWL" ETC.
ILLUSTRATIONS BY RAY WALTERS

CHAPTER XII.

The Long Day.

One travels dale by relays casually disposed along the route at the whim of the native contractor. Between Badshah Junction and Kuttarpur there were ten stages, of which the conclusion of the first was at hand—Amber having all but abandoned belief in its existence.

Stammering recklessly down the bed of an ancient water course, the tongue upon suddenly upon one wheel round a shoulder of the banks and dashed out upon a rolling plain, across which the trail snaked to other farther hills that lay dim and low, a wavy line of blue, upon the horizon—the hills in whose heart Kuttarpur itself lay occult. And, by the roadside, in a compound fenced with camel-thorn, sat an aged and indigent dale-bungalow, marking the end of the first stage, the beginning of the second.

Ram Nath reined in with a flourish and lifted a raucous voice, hailing the ayce, while Amber, painfully disengaging his cramped limbs, clumbled down and stumbled toward the veranda. The abrupt transition from violent and erratic motion to a solid and substantial footing affected him unpleasantly, and with an undeniable quail; the earth seemed to rock and flow beneath him as if under the influence of an ante earthquake. He was for some seconds occupied with the problem of regaining his poise, and it was not until he heard an Englishwoman's voice uplifted in accents of anger, that he remembered the other wayfarer with whom he was to share his tonga, or associated with the white-clad figure in the dark doorway of the bungalow with anything but the khamamah, coming to greet and cheat the chance-brought guest.

"Where is that tonga-wallah who deserted me here last night?" the woman was demanding of Ram Nath, too preoccupied with her resentment to have eyes for the other traveler, who at sight of her had stopped and removed his pith helmet and stood staring as if he had come from a land in which there were no women.

"Where," she continued, with an imperative stamp of a daintily-shod foot, "is that wretched tonga-wallah?"

"Sahib," protested Ram Nath, with a great show of deference, "how should I know? He is in Badshah Junction, whether he returned every late last night, being travel-worn and weary, and where I left him, being sent with this excellent tonga to take his place."

"You were? And why have I been detained here, alone and unprotected, this long night? Simply because that other tonga-wallah was a fool, am I to be imposed upon in this fashion?"

"What am I?" whimpered Ram Nath, "to endure the wrath of the sahib for a fault that is none of mine?"

"I beg your pardon, sir," said the girl, turning to Amber, "but it is very annoying." She looked him over, first with abstraction, then with a puzzled gathering of her brows, for he was far from her thoughts—the last person who would have expected to meet in that place, and very effectively disguised in dust and dirt besides. "The tire came off the wheel just as we got here, late yesterday evening, and in trying, or pretending to try, to fit it on again, that block-head of a tonga-wallah hammered the rim with a rock as big as his head and naturally smashed it to kindling-wood. Then, before I could stop him, he flung himself on the back of a pony and went away, saying that it was the will of God that he should return to Badshah for a better tonga. Since when I have had for company one stable-ayce, one deaf-and-dumb patriarch of a khamamah and . . . the usual duk-bungalow discomforts—insects, bad food, and a terrible fear of dalekts."

"I am so sorry, Miss Farrell," Amber put in. "If I had only been here . . ."

The girl gave a little gasp and sat down abruptly in one of the veranda chairs, thereby threatening it with instant demolition and herself with a bad spill; for the chair was feeble with the burden of its many years.

and she was a quite substantial young person. Indeed, so loudly did it croak a protest and a warning that she immediately arose in alarm.

"Mr. Amber!" she said; and, "Well . . ."

"You'll forgive me the surprise?" he begged, going up on the veranda to her. "I myself had no hope of finding you here."

"But," she protested, with a pretty flush of color—"but I left you in the States such a little while ago!"

"Yes!" he said gravely. "It seems so long to me. . . . And when you had gone, Long Island was a very lonely place indeed," he added, with calculated impudence.

Her color deepened and she sought another chair, seating herself with gingerly decision. "I'm sure you don't mean me to assume that you've followed me half round the world?"

"Why not?" He brought another chair to face her. "Besides, I haven't seen anything of . . . India for a good many years."

"Mr. Amber!"

"Alas!" he countered with affected humility.

"You're spoiling it all. I was so glad to see you—I'd have been glad to see any white man, of course—"

"Much obliged, I'm sure."

"And now you're actually flirting with me—or pretending to."

"I'm not," he declared soberly. "As a matter of solemn fact, I had to come to India."

"On a matter of serious business. Please don't ask me what, just yet; but it's very serious, to my way of thinking. This happy incident—I count myself a very happy man to have been so fortunate—only makes my errand the more pleasant."

She regarded him intently, chin in hand, her brown eyes sedate with speculation, for some time. "I believe you've been speaking in parables," she asserted, at length. "If I'm unjust, bear with me; appearances are against you. There isn't any reason I know of why you should tell me what brought you here—"

"There's every reason, in point of fact, Miss Farrell; only . . . I can't explain just now."

"Very well," she agreed briskly; "let's be content with that. I am glad to see you again, truly; and—"

"We're to travel on to Kuttarpur in the same tonga?"

"If you'll permit—"

"After what I've endured, this awful night, I wouldn't willingly let you out of my sight."

"Or any other white man?"

She laughed, pleased. "I presume you're wondering what I'm doing here?"

"You were to join your father in Darjeeling, I believe?" he countered, cautious.

"But I found he'd been transferred . . ."

"I myself had no hope of finding you here."

unexpectedly to Kuttarpur. So, of course, I had to follow. I telegraphed him day before yesterday when I was to arrive at Badshah Junction, and naturally expected he'd come in person or have some one meet me, but I presume the message must have gone astray. At all events there was no one there for me and I had to come on alone. It's hardly been a pleasant experience; that incompetent tonga-wallah behaved precisely as though he had deliberately made up his mind to delay me. . . . And the tonga's nearly ready; I must lock my kit-bag."

She went into the bungalow, leaving him thoughtful, for perhaps. . . . But the back of Ram Nath, as that worthy busied himself superintending the harnessing in of fresh ponies, conveyed to him no support of his half-credited hypothesis that this "accident" had been carefully planned by Lubertouch for Amber's especial benefit.

The girl joined him on the veranda in due course, very demure and sweet to look upon in her traveling dress of light pinks and her pith helmet, whose green underbrim and puggaree served very handsomely to set off her fair coloring. If she overlooked the adoration of his eyes, she was rather less than woman; for it was in them, plain to be seen for the 'looking.' The khamamah followed her from the bungalow, staggering under the weight of her box and kit-bag, and with Ram Nath's surly assistance made them fast to the front seat, while Amber gave the girl his hand to help her to her place, and lifted himself to her side in a mute glow of ecstasy. Fate, he thought with reason, was most kind to him.

They rattled headlong from the compound, making for the distant hills of blue. The girl drew down her puggaree, with its soft, thin folds sheltering the pure contours of her face from the dust and burning glare. He watched her hungrily, holding his breath as the thought came to him that he was seated elbow to elbow with the woman who was to be his wife.

The second stage wore away with a dozen words passing between them; so also the third. The pauses were brief enough, the ponies being exchanged with gratifying dispatch. The tonga would pull up, Ram Nath would jump down . . . and in a brace of minutes or little more the vehicle would be en route again. Amber engaged with the infinite ramifications of this labyrinthine riddle of his, and the girl incessantly yielding to the need of sleep. She passed, at length, into sound unconsciousness.

She roused finally very much refreshed for the midday halt for rest and tiffin, which they passed at one of the conventional bungalows, in nothing particularly unlike its fellows unless it were that they enjoyed, before tiffin, the gorgeous luxury of plenty of clean water, cooled in porcelains, and the discovery of this abundance, promptly went to the extreme of calling in the khamamah to sluice him down with jar after jar, and felt like himself for the first time in five days when, shaved and dressed, he returned to the common living room of the resthouse.

The girl kept him waiting but a little while. Lacking the attentions of an ayah, she had probably been unable to bathe so extensively as he, but eventually she appeared in an immeasurably more happy state of body and mind, calling up to him the stifle, stronger than any other, of a tall, fair lily after a morning shower. And she was in a bewitching humor, one that ingeniously enough succeeded in entangling him more thoroughly than ever before in the web of her fascinations. Over an execrable curry of stringy fowl and questionable rice, oiled out with tea and thin delicacies of their own, their chatter, at the beginning sufficiently gay and inconsequent, drifted by imperceptible and unsuspected gradations perilously close to the shoals of intimacy. And subsequently, when they had packed themselves back into the narrow tonga seat and again were being bounced and joggled breathlessly over shocking roads, the exchange of confidences continued with unabated interest. (To Be Continued.)

Had Three Accomplishes.

"How did the burglar escape?" inquired the detective.

"Well," replied the guard with the damaged eye, "he sort of nicknamed himself out."

"What do you mean?"

"First he pried open the cell door with a jimmy, then he knocked me down with a billy and then he walked forth."

Dark Days Coming.

"Say, Jim, here's a preacher in New York who says men should sow, cook, wash the dishes and get their own breakfast."

"What's the use of rubbing it in? Guess we all know we'll have to pray soon."

THE WATERS FLEE.

A strange movement is reported on the shore of the sea of Azov. The waters have lately receded in some places as far as three miles, leaving many ships stuck fast in the mud. The inhabitants are said to have attributed the phenomenon to violent gales prevailing at the time.

It is a well known fact that persistent gales will actually drive the water out into the sea, which means piling it up much as if it were sand.

LAKE ST. JOHN (PROBABLE), WHERE THE WATERS RECED.

Of course when the blow stops the water is bound to find its level and return to its place.

Only a few months ago the writer saw this very thing on the southwestern shores of Lake St. John, in far Quebec. The Indians called this lake Ploumoum, which means "flat lake." All lakes are flat when the wind stops blowing, but bordering Lake St. John is a vast prairie-like country which extends far out into the lake, making its borders exceedingly shallow. These may easily be swept clean by a powerful wind, even as the active use of a broom sweeps water from a floor.

Of course, though a wind happens to be blowing strongly at the time, conclusions must not be too hastily drawn. If on the going down of the wind the waters do not return it is manifest that some other cause is to be ascribed for their withdrawal. A sudden giving way of the sea bottom at some point, letting the waters out in general subsidence of the same over a wide area or an elevation of the shore and of the shallows—any of these would account for the phenomenon without the aid of the wind.

That such changes of level are all the time slowly going on and may occasionally come suddenly is well known. Permanently to raise or lower

SEVEN YEARS OF MISERY

All Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Sikeston, Mo. "For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramp and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to no purpose, and at last I was told to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl."

Mrs. DORA BERTHOUD, Sikeston, Mo.

"The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

It is more widely and successfully used than any other remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed. Why don't you try it?

THE EVOLUTION OF BOOSTER BILL

VI.—He Decides to Buy a Home

When Bill Blue had to buy of yore it made his tightwad spirit sore. So these times, he is understood. He made as seldom as he could.

His cash to no home merchant went. To a mail order house he sent. "These stores that we have here," said he.

"Are robbers, but they can't rob me."

This made the local tradesmen blaze. They cried: "That rule will work both ways."

IF BILL CUTS US, WHY, WE'LL CUT BILL

Till of that game he has his fill. It jarred Bill some. He said: "By Jack! I spend here it may COME BACK."

His dollars now no longer roam. Cut "Bill the Booster" buys at home.

How It Happened.

"Aren't they rather old to be getting married?"

"Rather."

"Sweethearts in youth, I suppose?"

"Yes, loved one another dearly."

"How did they come to fall out?"

"They didn't fall out. He proposed to her by letter and she replied accepting him, but she gave the letter to her father to mail, so he just received it last week."

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL.

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Janesville People Know How To Save It.

Many Janesville people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health, but there is no need to suffer nor to remain in danger when all diseases and aches and pains due to weak kidneys can be quickly and permanently cured by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. Here is a Janesville citizen's recommendation.

Charles W. Allen, R. P. D. No. 8, Janesville, Wis., says:—"I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and can recommend them as a remedy that can be relied upon. I suffered from kidney trouble for a long time and although I tried various remedies, I received no relief. Finally I procured Doan's Kidney Pills and began their use. In a few days my trouble disappeared and it has never returned."
